Charming Village House for Sale in Mojacar Pueblo with Stunning Views in Almeria, Andalusia.

Located in the heart of Mojacar Pueblo, this charming village property offers a rare opportunity to own a home full of character with breathtaking views of the surrounding mountains and village. Spread across four levels, the house combines traditional Andalusian architecture with modern comforts. A double garage at street level provides convenient parking, while a short set of steps leads to the welcoming entrance and bright hallway, opening into a spacious lounge-diner with large windows that flood the space with natural light.

The well-designed interior features a fully fitted 4m x 4m kitchen, three generously sized bedrooms on the first floor, and a guest bathroom. The main bedroom boasts an en-suite, built-in wardrobes, and double-aspect windows, along with a private terrace that connects to another bedroom, currently used as an office. A second staircase leads to a fourth bedroom suite on the top floor, complete with access to a large southwest-facing roof terrace, ideal for enjoying stunning sunsets and panoramic views.

Located just a short walk from the main plaza, this property is perfectly positioned within easy reach of local shops, restaurants, bars, and the town hall. The home's blend of authentic character and modern convenience makes it a perfect choice for those seeking a full-time residence or a charming holiday retreat in one of Almeria's most picturesque villages.
