126.000€

Sea view on the main street

Welcome to Garrucha, a fishing village with a charm of a town, known throughout Spain for its prawns. On the main street you will find this home with sea views and a shared jacuzzi on the roof. Here you are only a stone's throw from the big sandy beach, but you also get a town environment. With the mile-long promenade and the typical beach bars and restaurants alongside, it will give you the true Spanish summer experience all year round. Garrucha is perfect for those looking for the real Spain.

On the third floor you will find this home. Immediately when you enter and you will find yourself in an L-shaped hall. If you continue along the hall you will find on the right the first and the largest of three bright bedrooms with fitted wardrobes. Next to this bedroom is a full bathroom equipped with a large bathtub and a window that gives plenty of natural light. To the left you will find another two bright bedrooms with fitted wardrobes. Wall to wall with the last bedroom is the second bathroom with shower.

Back down the hall, opposite the front door, lies the heart of the home, the kitchen. Here you have a spacious kitchen with modern appliances and plenty of storage and work areas, perfect for family dinners. Directly connected to the kitchen you have the living room with a lot of natural light. Since this apartment has windows in all rooms, you have the advantage of cooling winds on warm summer evenings.

From the living room you come out to your terrace where you have sea views and plenty of room for a sofa group. Here you can spend many long warm evenings with a glass of wine and a nice dinner while looking out over the Mediterranean.
