The property spans vast land, with grassy flat fields, wooded forests, and stunning natural rock pools along the river, making it a perfect retreat for those seeking privacy, peace, and an off-grid lifestyle in harmony with nature. The Lanjaron River itself provides a beautiful backdrop, and the natural pools offer a peaceful place to relax or cool off in summer. The property's isolation ensures complete privacy, with no nearby neighbours or disturbances, providing a rare chance to reconnect with nature and live sustainably.

Access to the property is via a small, narrow road that ends in a section too tight for a standard vehicle but easily navigable by quad, adding to the sense of seclusion. The house itself is a charming 200m² structure, partially reformed with a natural, rustic style. It features wood floors and spacious living areas, with two bedrooms and two bathrooms already fully renovated, as well as a large lounge complete with a wood-burning stove to keep you warm in the cooler months. In addition, there are two more bedrooms that could be further renovated to suit your needs, with one already partially usable. The land surrounding the house is flat and green, creating a perfect space for outdoor living and gardening, while a short walk away, the forest begins to gently rise.
