

Country House for sale in Frailes, Jaén

38,000€

Situated in Puerto Blanco close to the town of Frailes and the historical city of Alcala la Real in the south of Jaen province in Andalusia, Spain. This detached Cortijo has mains water and electricity and is in need to renovation. With off road parking you enter the property via large double gates into a front patio space with seating areas and wonderful far-reaching countryside views. A vine covered doorway leads into the ground floor room with stairs taking you to the first floor and to another good size room. Stairs to the side of the property lead to additional mature gardens which include a brick built dog kennel at the rear of the property. For the non professional renovator or builder this is one to view with an architect or surveyor to determine what can be erected on the site.
