

1 bedroom Country House for sale in La Taha, Granada

75,000€

Part of our exclusive collection,

A unique opportunity in an impressive natural setting! We present this fascinating cortijo project in the picturesque village of Pitres, located in the heart of the municipality of La Taha, within the Sierra Nevada Natural Park. The property is situated on a plot of 8,000 square meters, almost flat, making it an ideal space for living or developing your ideas.

The land includes an irrigation pool, perfect for maintaining crops or enjoying a green and prosperous environment. The south-facing orientation ensures excellent sun exposure, allowing you to take full advantage of natural light and panoramic mountain views, creating an unparalleled atmosphere of serenity and tranquility.

The current construction, although still to be completed, has a land area of 70 square meters, and is accompanied by a cozy porch that offers additional space to relax while enjoying the beauty of this natural landscape. This is the perfect place for those looking to combine rural life with comfort and proximity to nature.

Don't miss this opportunity to make this project yours in the Alpujarras!
