

4 bedroom Townhouse for sale in Salinas, Alicante

89,999€

This is a large family property in an amazing location in the lovely town of Salinas (Alicante) and the countryside is almost on your doorstep. It's kind of like living in the country but in the town which sounds crazy but it's true. There is a block of four houses that share the plot of land behind them with a driveway access and carport/garages for each property as well as outside space. The photos and video will give you a clearer idea. The house has mains gas as well as water and electricity and, of course, sewage. As well as the parking to the rear there is loads of on street parking to the front and Salinas is such a safe town with a very low crime rate as it has almost full employment and is a town of only around 1,500 people and a nice mix of internationals. The interior of the property is immaculate with a large and bright lounge/diner with a feature log-burning fireplace to keep you cosy in winter. Don't worry, winter is very short in Spain and summer is very long. The kitchen is surprisingly not small as is the Spanish tradition and other is a large walk-in pantry/utility room. Also, there is a small bathroom with a toilet and washbasin downstairs. Great distribution means that the living areas and the sleeping areas are separated with a wide staircase leading up to the four bedrooms and the family bathroom. The master bedroom or primary as we are supposed to say these days is particularly lovely as it has access to the terrace and from there the views are stunning.
