Unique Cortijo Villa with Mountain Views, Pool & Historic Charm in Cortijo Grande, Turre, Almeria

Set in the picturesque valley of Cortijo Grande, this charming cortijo-style villa offers timeless beauty, spectacular views of the Sierra Cabrera mountains, and a tranquil lifestyle just minutes from local dining options. Originally built in 1900 and extended in 2016, this 5-bedroom, 4-bathroom property blends historic character with modern comfort. Approaching through a private gate with ample shaded parking, the villa's traditional Spanish architecture and lush terraced gardens create a serene retreat.

Inside, the villa provides spacious and inviting living areas, including a winter sitting room with wooden beams and an open fireplace, ideal for cosy gatherings. This room opens to a BBQ area and poolside terrace, perfect for entertaining. The expansive sitting-dining room with an American-style kitchen features custom cabinetry and a double fridge with filtered water, while two sets of patio doors bathe the room in sunlight and provide direct access to the pool and porch. Upstairs, the villa offers a large double bedroom with en-suite bath, additional double bedrooms, and abundant storage on the landing, ensuring comfort and convenience.

Outside, terraced gardens are filled with mature trees, colourful plants, and an old stone bread oven that remains functional, adding to the cortijo's unique charm. A storage and utility room with a water softener adds practicality, while mobile air conditioning / heating units and fly screens throughout enhance comfort. With its breathtaking location, historic character, and updated amenities, this Cortijo Grande villa is a rare find that combines the best of Andalusian style with modern-day living.
